THE long established reputation of DEBRETT'S BARONETAGE, and the extensive Patronage it has been uniformly honoured with, render it unnecessary for the Proprietors, in offering the present Edition to the Public, to say more than that it has been revised throughout, newly arranged, and in great part re-written by the Editor, under whose superintendence the last three Editions of DEBRETT'S PEERAGE have been published, and who, in addition to a careful collation of preceding authors upon the subject, has had the advantage of many Manuscript Authorities.

The same enlarged page which was used for the 17th edition of DEBRETT'S PEERAGE, and the same variation of type and division of the genealogical narrative into short paragraphs, which added so materially to the perspicuity of that work, have also been adopted in this Edition of the BARONETAGE.

The Proprietors have to return their grateful thanks to those Baronets (too numerous to be individually mentioned) who were kind enough to honour their circular letter of enquiries with an answer. They most respectfully entreat a continuance of similar favours, for, though industry and application may collect the history of past generations from other sources, the present state of families can be furnished only by the existing Members of the families themselves.

On the subject of Communications, the Editor solicits most earnestly, and will receive with the utmost thankfulness, any information (authenticated by a signature) relative to the present state of the families which form the subject of this work; correct dates of births, marriages, and deaths; and, more especially, the christian names of children. Where a communication may refer to the origin or earlier genealogy of a family, he will give it his best attention; but he must be allowed to compare it with such other authorities on the same subject as he has access to, and finally to exercise his own discretion as to using it or not.

 Address to the Editor, under cover to Messrs. Rivington, Waterloo Place, or St. Paul's Church Yard; or to any other of the Proprietors.

PREFACE.

OF THE ASIATIC SOC

THE Title of Baronet is an hereditary dignity, intermediate in rank between the Peerage and Knighthood. The Order was founded by King James the First in 1611, and owes its origin to the laudable anxiety of that monarch for the settlement and civilization of Ireland. That country, during nearly the whole reign of his predecessor, had been desolated by wars of the most remorseless description; the rebels, or native Irish, were at length completely subdued by Elizabeth, but so late in her reign that the task of civilizing the people she had conquered, of reconciling them to laws and industry, of rendering their obedience durable, and their subjection useful to the crown of England, devolved entirely on her successor. In this work, according to Hume, King James proceeded by so steady, regular, and well connected a plan, that in the short space of nine years he made more advances towards the reformation of that kingdom than had been made in the four hundred and forty years which had elapsed since the conquest of it was first attempted.

The province of Ulster had been particularly depopulated during the wars, and its whole proprietorship vested in the crown by the attainder and forfeiture of the rebels; for its settlement, English adventurers were encouraged to go over, grants of land were made to them, and to any Englishman who would undertake to maintain thirty soldiers there for three years, at the rate of 8d. per day, and to remit the first year's pay into the English Treasury, the degree of BARONET was held out as an honorary reward, with a solemn undertaking on the part of the Sovereign that neither he nor his successors would at any time in future institute a degree of hereditary dignity that should intervene between the Baronets and the Peerage of the realm. To mark more strongly the object of this Institution, every Baronet was authorized to add in a canton or escocheon on the armorial bearings of his family the arms of the province of Ulster, being "a sinister hand, couped at the wrist gules," or, as it has since been more familiarly termed, the bloody hand.

At the first institution of the Order, its numbers were limited to 200; and its members carefully selected from the most wealthy and distinguished families of landed gentry. In subsequent periods, although landed property and interest has always been much regarded in these promotions, many other considerations, arising out of the circumstances of the times and the progress of society, have been allowed to direct the royal favour. In the reign of the first Charles it was at once the stimulus and reward of devoted loyalty; by his son, it was often bestowed as an honorary recompense for sufferings and attachment, on which he was unable or unwilling to confer more solid remuneration. As the commerce of our country increased, the wealthy and distinguished Merchant learned to look forward to it as the well earned meed of long continued and successful industry. In the last and present reign, we have seen it associated with all that was eminent in science, respectable in wealth, or distinguished in public service, whether civil or military; the man who scorning, even in youth, the allurements of riches, braved the dangers of every clime in the pursuit of science, and dedicated his whole after-life to its promotion; the profound and upright dispenser of the Laws; the Physician who arrested the progress, or soothed the pains of disease; the Philosopher who subjected to chains the element of fire; and the Poet whose genius has shed a lustre on the literature of his times, will be found, associated with the Heroes of the Nile, of Trafalgar, and of Waterloo, and with the statesmen whose exertions at home sustained and directed the efforts of the warrior, and supplied the means of victory, in the list of BARONETS created by KING GEORGE IV. and his Royal Father.

The rank and precedence of Baronets is immediately after the younger sons of Barons, and before all Knights, whether of the Orders or Knights Bachelors, except Knights of the Garter and Knights Bannerets created in open war under the Royal Banner displayed, the King himself, or the Prince of Wales being present. Commoners, however, who are of his Majesty's Privy Council, the Chancellors of the Exchequer, and of the Duchy of Lancaster, the Judges, and the Master of the Rolls, take precedence of Baronets.

The eldest son of a Baronet, until 19 Dec. 1827, might, on coming of age, claim the honour of Knighthood, under the provisions of letters patent, granting, amongst other things, that privilege, which King James issued about a twelvemonth after the foundation of the Order. His present Majesty, however, was pleased, by letters patent of the above-mentioned date, to revoke and annul those of King James so far as the said privilege is concerned.

NEW BARONETAGE

ROYAL AIR FORCE

BACON, of REDGRAVE, co. Suffolk.

22 May 1611.

SIR EDMUND BACON, Premier Baronet of England, born 16 July 1779, succeeded his father, sir Edmund, 5 Sept. 1820; married, 27 Aug. 1801, Mary-Anne-Elizabeth, da. of Edward-Dashwood Bateman, of Ottery St. Mary, co. Devon, esq., and by her (who d. 23 Oct. 1820) had issue, 1. EDMUND, b. 31 Jan. 1803; 2. Anna-Maria, b. 10 March 1804; 3. Harriett-Laura, b. 22 July 1805; 4. Frances, b. 20 May 1808; 5. Nicholas-Henry, b. 23 May 1814.

This family is said to be descended from Grimbald, who came into England with his kinsman William, earl of Warren, at the Norman invasion, and settled at Letheringset, near Holt, in Norfolk. His great-grandson, Robert, took the name of Bacon.

The above-named Robert had a brother, sir William, of Monks-Bradfield, in Suffolk; from whom descended, in the 10th generation,

Sir Nicholas Bacon, who filled the office of lord-keeper of the great seal to queen Elizabeth, and d. 20 Feb. 1579, having m. 1st, Jane Fermley, and 2dly, Anne, one of the 6 das. of sir Anthony Cook, of Giddy Hall, co. Essex, one of the tutors of king Edward VI. By his 2d wife he had 2 sons, the younger of whom was that great luminary of modern science, sir Francis Bacon. He was b. 22 Jan. 1550-1, was of Trinity College, Cambridge, and afterwards of Gray's Inn; appointed counsel-extraordinary to the queen, 1588, solicitor-general to king James I. 1607, attorney-general, 1613, a privy-counsellor, 1616, lord keeper, March 1616-17, and lord chancellor 1618; created baron Verulam in the same year, and viscount St. Alban's, 20 Jan. 1620-1; but being shortly afterwards accused of corrupt practices, and confessing in a great measure his guilt, he was sentenced, on the 3d of May 1621, to be fined £40,000, and to be imprisoned in the Tower during his majesty's pleasure; was rendered incapable of holding any office, sitting in parliament, or coming within the verge of the court. After a short imprisonment his fine was remitted, and it is probable the whole of his sentence was cancelled, as he was again summoned to parliament in the first year of Charles I. He d. 9 April 1626, having by his labours in retirement, during the latter part of his life, made a brilliant atonement for his errors. He m. Anne Barnham, da. of an alderman of London, but left no issue.

Hall, £1800, which, not being thought sufficient, was afterwards, by vote in parliament, increased to £4000; but upon great application it was reduced to the first fine. This family is of great antiquity co. Warwick, where Simon de Shuckburgh held lands as early as 6 Edw. II., 1312.

Sir Richard Shuckburgh, knt., father to the 1st bart., was representative co. Warwick in parliament, 1641. Dugdale, in his History of Warwickshire, relates of him that, as king Charles I. marched to Edgcott, near Banbury, on 22 Oct. 1642, he saw him hunting in the fields; upon which he fetched a deep sigh, and asked, Who that gentleman was that hunted so merrily that morning when he was going to fight for his crown and dignity? and being told it was sir Richard Shuckburgh, he was ordered to be called to him and was very graciously received; upon which he went immediately home, armed all his tenants, and the next day attended on him in the field, where he was knighted, and was present at the battle of Edgehill. After his majesty's retreat from those parts, he went to his own seat, and fortified himself on the top of Shuckburgh Hill, where, being attacked by some of the parliament forces, he defended himself till he fell, with most of his tenants about him; but being taken up, and life perceived in him, he was carried away prisoner, first to Northampton, and from thence to Kenilworth Castle, where he lay a considerable time, and was forced to purchase his liberty at a dear rate. He d. 13 June 1656.

Wootton, in his Baronetage, 1727, says, there is a tradition that this ancient family is descended from Wolstan, earl of Ellenden (now called Wilton), who m. the sister of Egbert, the first English monarch. Another asserts (upon a relation of sir Walter Littleton, chancellor of Lichfield), that one of the Dixies m. the da. and h. of —— Wolstan, of Wolstan, co. Warwick, about 700 years since; and in confirmation of the same, a piece of alabaster was, many years ago, found under a pillar in Wolvey church, near Wolstan, with this inscription in old characters, viz., Wolstan Dixie, in the year of our Lord 1100. But Dugdale, in his "Warwickshire," intimates, that Wolstan was so called (quasi Wulfricston) from some Saxon possessor named Wulfric. The first mentioned in the Herald's visitations is Wolstan Dixie, who was seated at Catworth, co. Huntingdon, about the reign of Edward III.

I. Sir WOLSTAN, at the breaking out of the rebellion, 1641, appeared early in the defence of the king, and was a great sufferer for the royal cause. When the gentry of the co. of Leicester contributed £25,642 for his majesty, sir Wolstan gave himself towards that sum, £1835; for which signal service he had a warrant for a baronet's patent; but through the confusion of the times, it was not taken out till after the Restoration. CROFT, of Croft Castle, co. Hereford.

18 Nov. 1671.

Sir THOMAS-ELMSLEY CROFT, Bart., Lieutenant in the Grenadier regiment of Foot Guards, born 2 Sept. 1798, succeeded his father, sir Richard, 13 Feb. 1818; married, 9 Sept. 1824, Sophia-Jane-Lateward, only child of Richard-Lateward Lateward, esq., of Grove House, Ealing, Middlesex, and has Grace, b. 3 June 1826.

It has been remarked that this family "presents one of the very few instances in which property has descended from father to son for more than seven hundred years", and that "in almost every generation, from the commencement of the 14th century, records exist of the public services of its representatives."

The name is undoubtedly Saxon; and in Doomsday Book Bernard de Croft is stated to have held the tenement of Croft in Herefordshire, which continued in the possession of his descendants until the last century. In 1274 Roger de Croft was sub-escheator for that county. Sir Hugh de Croft, lord of Croft, was created a knight of the Bath 33 Edw. I.; was M.P. for the county of Hereford 1315; and in a contemporary roll of arms he is said to have used the same bearings as have been borne by his descendants, but his ancestors bore that coat without the lion.

His son, Hugh, was a justice of assize 1338, and was succeeded by his son, sir John de Croft, who was frequently employed in negotiations in Flanders, between 1402, when he was captain of Merk Castle, near Calais, and 1404. By Janet, 3d da. and co-h. of the renowned Owen Glendower, he had issue William, whose son, sir Richard, was one of the most distinguished soldiers of his times, and a zealous partizan of the House of York. At the battle of Tewkesbury he took the Prince of Wales prisoner, and having brought him before Edward, the young prince was barbarously murdered, though without sir Richard's participation in the deed. He was sheriff co. Hereford in the 10th, and knight of the shire for that county in the 17th Edw. IV. In 1 Hen. VII. he was treasurer of the king's household; and at the battle of Stoke, 1487, was created a knight banneret: at the death of Prince Arthur, 1502, sir Richard was steward of his household; and d. very aged in 1509.

His son, sir Edward, was several times sheriff of Herefordshire; and was one of the counsel to the princess Mary; he d. 1547, and was succeeded by his son, Richard, the father of sir James Croft, whose name so frequently occurs in the history of the reigns of Edward VI., Mary, and Elizabeth, as governor of Haddington, and lord deputy of Ireland, 1551; deputy constable of the Tower, 1552; governor of Berwick, 1559; comptroller of the household, and privy counsellor, 1570; knight of the shire co. Hereford 5th, 13th, 28th, 29th, 30th, and 35th Eliz., and a commissioner to treat with the agents of the king of Spain at Bourbourg in 1588. Sir James d. 1591. Edward, his son, was M.P. for Leominster, 1571 and 1586, d. 1601, leaving a son, sir Herbert, M.P. co. Hereford temp. Eliz. and Jas. I., who had four sons, of whom sir William, sir James, and Robert were colonels in the service of Charles I., and were conspicuous for their eminent loyalty. The two first mentioned d. s.p.; Herbert, the 3d son, and eventually h. of sir Herbert, b. 1608, having entered into holy orders, became celebrated as a divine and a scholar: he was appointed bishop of Hereford 1662, and d. 1692. His only child,

I. Sir HERBERT, 1st bart., was so created 18th Nov. 1671, m. Elizabeth, da. of Thomas Archer, of Umbersdale, co. Warwick, esq., aunt of the 1st lord Archer, by whom (who d. 1709) he had issue,

This family was resident co. We are unable to trace the family to an earlier period than 1413, when, by an inquisition of Thomas Langley, bishop of Durham, it appears that Robert de Eden died possessed of 3 messuages and 10 oxgangs of land, with their appurtenances, in Preston on Tees, held of the bishop in capite, by knight's service. The name of Fetherstonhaugh is of great antiquity in the co. of Durham, and descended from a WILLIAM DE MONTE, who lived temp. king Stephen.
